

For Immediate Release

Qualmark Elects New Board Member

(July 18, 2008) – Denver, Colorado – Qualmark Corporation, a world leader in designing, manufacturing and marketing HALT (Highly Accelerated Life Testing), HASS (Highly Accelerated Stress Screening) technology and electrodynamic systems has elected Mr. Derek Johnson, president of Fusion Specialties, to its Board of Directors effective July 18, 2008.

“Derek’s exceptional business knowledge and capabilities span operations, finance, corporate development, marketing, and sales” said Andy Drenick, Qualmark’s President and Chief Executive Officer. “We are very pleased to have a business person of his caliber and experience join our Board.”

Fusion Specialties is a specialty supplier to the retail industry. Prior to working at Fusion Specialties, Mr. Johnson spent 11 years with CoorsTek, a manufacturer of technical products, supplying critical components and assemblies for mining, automotive, semiconductor, aerospace, electronic, power generation, telecommunication, and other high-technology applications on a global basis. Most recently, from 2000 to 2005, he served as both president and chief operating officer of CoorsTek.

Qualmark Corporation, (www.qualmark.com) headquartered in Denver, Colorado is the leader in designing, marketing, and manufacturing accelerated life-testing systems (HALT and HASS) providing the world’s largest corporations with solutions that improve product reliability and allow them to get to market faster. The Company has installed more than 860 of its proprietary testing systems in 35 countries. The Company also operates or partners with twenty two HALT and HASS testing facilities worldwide.

The Company also offers electrodynamic vibration solutions through its subsidiary, Ling Electronics.

Ling Electronics, headquartered in West Haven, Connecticut is the leader in supplying electrodynamic systems, components, and service to the worldwide vibration test equipment market.

###

Contact:

Qualmark Corporation

Mr. Alan Perkins

Vice President of Sales and Marketing

303.254.8800

www.qualmark.com